The screenshot shows a web browser window with three tabs labeled "New Tab". The address bar contains the URL "http://dev.chromium.org/". The page title is "Chromium Developer Documentation". On the left side, there is a navigation menu with links: Home, Getting Involved, For Developers, For Testers, Contact, and Sitemap. Below the navigation menu, it says "Google Chrome is built with open source code from Chromium." The main content area has a "Home" section with a paragraph: "Chromium is an open-source browser project that aims to build a safer, faster, and more stable way for all Internet users to experience the web. This site contains design documents, architecture overviews, testing information, and more to help you learn to build and work with the Chromium source code." To the right of this text is an illustration of a computer monitor with wings. Below the "Home" section, there are two columns of links. The "Learn how to" column includes: Browse the sources online, Build Chromium on Windows, OS X, or Linux, Debug with Visual Studio, Submit a patch, and Report a bug. The "Other important links" column includes: Chromium homepage, Discussion groups (such as chromium-discuss), Chromium blog, and Chromium Issues list. The "Sections" column includes: Getting Involved, For Developers, For Testers, User Experience, and Contact.
